THE DENVER POST NAMES LPR Construction
A WINNER OF THE COLORADO 2018 TOP WORKPLACES AWARD

(Loveland, CO) April 16, 2018-- [LPR Construction](http://LPR Construction) has been awarded a 2018 Top Workplaces honor by The Denver Post. The anonymous survey, administered by Energage, measures several aspects of workplace culture, including alignment, execution, and connection, just to name a few.

“Top Workplaces is more than just recognition,” said Doug Claffey, CEO of Energage, “Our research shows organizations that earn the award attract better talent, experience lower turnover, and are better equipped to deliver bottom-line results. Their leaders prioritize and carefully craft a healthy workplace culture that supports employee engagement.”

“We are excited to be named a Top Workplace by the Denver Post and Energage, and frankly it’s been our honor to have earned that recognition,” said Rocky Turner, CEO and founder of LPR Construction and its parent company, Longbow Industries. “We want LPR to be a place where employees believe we are the “Best Place to Build”, our employment brand. We are employee-owned and try to combine a sense of family and belonging with the highest professional standards for safety, quality, and ethics in the industry.

“In 2015, LPR made employee engagement a strategic goal in an effort to attract and retain top talent. We implemented programs to improve work life balance, employee benefits and increase communication company-wide. We have built our teams with people from a wide variety of backgrounds who believe in our core values:

- Committed to Safety
- We Over Me
- Do What You Say
- Driven to Learn and Share Knowledge
- Competitive Spirit
- Be Part of the Solution

We’ve seen that a healthy workplace culture where employees feel valued and recognized helps us attract great talent and deliver results our customers have come to expect and that we can all be proud of,” Turner added.

“Becoming a Top Workplace isn’t something organizations can buy,” Claffey said. “It’s an achievement organizations have worked for and a distinction that gives them a competitive advantage. It’s a big deal.”
